Women's Human Rights Education:
Instruments and Activism

Ontario Institute for Studies in Education
University of Toronto, Canada

Director: Alda Facio

With Peggy Antrobus

Angela Miles

Mònica Muñoz-Vargas

The Institute brings feminist perspectives and an activist orientation to the inextricably related issues of peace, human rights and life-sustaining development. Participants will gain an understanding of the global economic, ecological, legal, cultural and political contexts of this work, as well as of the groundbreaking work that is currently being done and has been done over decades by women and men around the world.

Important milestones such as the U.N. Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women (CEDAW), the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, the U.N. Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples, The African Protocol on Women's Rights, the Inter-American Convention on the Prevention, Punishment and Eradication of Violence Against Women, Security Council Resolution 1325, the Beijing Platform for Action, and Women's Action Agenda 21, will be featured. Women's historical struggles for their adoption, their potential as resources for social change, and effective ways of using them as tools for education and practice will be explored.

Application due date for guaranteed consideration is February 15, 2007.

Tuition: US$2,250 / CAD$2,500 per 3 week Session
